Guidelines & Accountability: Throughout online gatherings, the hosting adults of the SAYF community try to balance our awareness of the activities of the Young Friends with the importance to Young Friends of being trusted by the adults. Our goal is to teach accountability through guidelines, behavioral expectations, and community eldering. Therefore, it is ultimately up to the individual teen to act responsibly and to desire to be a positive element in the community. If you feel that your child is not able and willing to uphold our community rules and expectations, he or she should not attend retreats at this time.

I give permission for my above named child to attend the SAYF online event & retreat gatherings held over the course of the 2020-2021 school year. I give SAYF and its adult volunteers permission to host and supervise these gatherings and I hereby release the Southern Appalachian Yearly Meeting and Association (SAYMA), its staff, and volunteers from liability for any emotional duress that my child may experience from their presence and participation.
